

ED 262: Family & Community Resources in Early Childhood Education

This course examines the young child in the family in terms of the goals and values of the family, parenting styles, and child care. It looks at the influences of the larger context of specific community resources, community socializing agents, interdisciplinary teamwork, and social policy issues that impact the young child and family.

Hours: 3

Prerequisites:

ED 100.

Program: Education

Semester Offered:

Spring