

EN 310: Film Criticism

A study of topics in narrative film, including components of industry and production. Narrative films are both cultural and historical texts and can provide insight into the cultures and histories within which they are created. May be repeated for credit up to 6 hours.

Hours: 3

Program: English

Semester Offered:

Spring odd