

EN 485: Senior Thesis

Students may write a substantial research paper on a literary topic, or a substantial creative project. The creative project may be a collection of poems, a collection of short stories, a dramatic script, a novella, or a substantial creative nonfiction project. The thesis will include a reflective introduction that explains the student's critical methodology or the student's choice of a model poet, author, or script writer.

Hours: 3

Fees: $30 course fee.

Prerequisites:

EN 326, EN 345, Senior English major. For a creative thesis students must have taken an advanced course that fits their genre. Prerequisite for poetry, fiction, and creative nonfiction, EN 400 or MC 370. Prerequisite for a dramatic script, TH 270, EN 310, or MC 375.

Program: English

Semester Offered:

Fall