

GS 101: Introduction to Academia, Culture and Society

An introductory course designed to provide students with an orientation to college life and living in the United States, and to help them develop an understanding and appreciation of various cultures. Students will explore and compare a variety of cultures through multiple lenses (i.e., food, religion, language). Learning activities will include exploring campus resources and activities; working individually and in collaborative learning groups on meaningful academic projects that encourage critical thinking and build essential study, computer, and library skills; and participating in off-campus field trips. Open only to international students in their first semester who are concurrently enrolled in ESL coursework.
